'Cheadle Village Primary – the school at the heart of the village'

Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education Policy (RSHE)

Agreed and adopted by Cheadle Village Primary School Governing Board

Date: May 2024

Review: May 2027

In September 2020, it became statutory for all primary schools to teach Relationships and Health Education.

Relationships and Health Education is vital for the personal, social and emotional development of our children. As well as being our legal responsibility, it is our moral responsibility to prepare the children of Cheadle Village Primary School for the increasingly connected and diverse world in which they live.

Our Relationships Education curriculum equips our children with the information, skills and values that they need to have safe, respectful and enjoyable relationships. Also, it empowers them to take responsibility for their sexual health and well-being by preparing them for the changes that adolescence brings.

We believe that through providing a high quality and robust Relationships Education curriculum, we are upholding the ethos and values of our school and its commitment to equality and celebration of difference.

At Cheadle Village Primary School, age appropriate Relationships, Sex and Health Education is rooted firmly within the Science and PSHE curriculums. This policy should be read in conjunction with our PHSE curriculum which gives detail of what is taught in each year group. Also, as a UNICEF Rights Respecting School, we use the Articles to further support this work.

Aims

- all teaching will be age-appropriate and suitable to Cheadle Village Primary School's context
- children will learn that there are many different family structures, for example, single parent, same sex parents, adoptive parents and so on
- children will understand the importance of respecting each other, family life and stable, healthy friendships and relationships both in person and online
- children will have an awareness and understanding of equality
- children will learn about and understand the physical and emotional changes that occur in their bodies as they grow up
- children will be well supported through their physical, emotional and moral development and will be well equipped to begin their journey from childhood through adolescence and into adulthood
- for children to develop the skills, understanding, emotional well-being, resilience, self-esteem and confidence to be able to develop and maintain healthy relationships
- to promote the British values of respect, tolerance and understanding
- children will have a good understanding of online safety and appropriate behaviour
- staff, parents and carers will be clear about the statutory requirements regarding Relationships, Sex and Health Education

Safeguarding and Child Protection

All staff receive annual training in relation to safeguarding and child protection and regular updates throughout the year. Staff are unable to maintain absolute confidentiality and any concerns of a safeguarding nature that children raise are dealt with according to our safeguarding procedures. (See Safeguarding Policy)

Working with Parents and Carers

Parents and carers are the key figures who support their children through the emotional and physical aspects of growing up.

Cheadle Primary School seeks to work in partnership with parents and carers when planning and delivering Relationships, Sex and Health Education by:

- consulting parents over the development of the policy
- providing advice and support to parents on how they can answer questions about RSHE with their children at home
- informing parents and carers of forthcoming RSHE topics so that they can prepare their children (as detailed within our PHSE curriculum).

Rights of Parents and Carers

Parents and carers cannot ask for their child to be withdrawn from Relationships or Health Education or the Science elements of growth and development which are marked with an asterisk.

Parents and carers can ask for their child to be withdrawn from some or all of the sex education which is delivered as part of the statutory Relationships and Health Education.

Please contact school if you wish to discuss withdrawal for your child.
